President's Message

Submitted By Sheila Wald

This newsletter issue features two of our bigger events for the year, certainly the events that require the most of our membership. I am pleased to say we had good turnout at both events, members jumped in and took on the numerous tasks required to make a successful hunt test and specialty show. Our volunteers are the backbone of putting on a successful event and we can't do it without you. I have been on the show committee for the specialty since our first one 13 years ago. Through the years I have worked with many club members and I thank each and everyone for their efforts, its much appreciated. On that note, I will be stepping down from an active role on the show committee for the coming 2018 year. For 2018 my focus will solely be on the lovely trophies and awards we provide each year. I am researching new vendors and ideas, as well as new ribbons. The show committee will need at least two new volunteers for 2018, please consider helping Dani with a successful show in 2018!

"CRUSH"

GCH Ch Dezertfyre's Crushed Ice, CGC, BN, CD, RE, JH

3/31/2008 - 7/15/2017

I truly didn't expect that Nationals would be the last time I would be in the ring with Crush. At only 9 years of age and full of himself, I thought we had several more years together and plenty of plans. Crush was the first puppy I ever whelped and was the source of many firsts for Dezertfyre as breeder/owners. Our first homebred Ch, Grand Champion, my first homebred Obedience title, Hunt test title. He was a dog with a HUGE personality and zest for life. Nothing he did was in half measures and he lived up to every ounce of his name, full on all the time, in voice, action and thought. Joyful, impulsive, he made me think, made me laugh and sometimes cry. He wasn't supposed to stay as I was only keeping a girl, but Mike insisted and he became a first rate hunting companion for Mike and a really fun obedience dog for me. He and his sister Liz taught me more than I ever taught them.

In early July he collapsed and was thought to have an Autoimmune condition IMHA in which the body attacks its own blood cells. Its is difficult to treat, but we had hope as he was responding favorably to the treatment. Two weeks later, he crashed again, this time the vet dug further and we began to suspect the dreaded C word, Hemangiosarcoma. With poor prognosis and a suffering Crush we chose to let him cross the bridge.

Today he rests on our hillside overlooking the sagebrush he loved to hunt, watching over us below. Reunited with his mom "Brandi" Ch Jaybren's Bonfire Konyak, CGC, CDX, RE, BN and dad "Oliver" CH Ciganyoz Dark N Stormy

We miss his demanding bark for dinner, grunts and groans as he cuddled, his thudding through out the house and his screaming whenever Mike pulled out the hunting gear. Its a to quiet world without our Crushie.

Coconut Oil for Dogs: Is it Really Good for Them?

Jan Reisen | August 01, 2017

Coconut oil has become a popular supplement for humans. It's thought to have benefits like boosting the immune system, aiding in weight loss, working as an anti-inflammatory and anti-fungal, and improving cognitive skills in patients with Alzheimer's. Used topically, coconut oil is an effective moisturizer and lip balm. But pet owners are asking: Is coconut oil beneficial to dogs? The answer is a qualified "yes." Some holistic and naturopathic veterinarians believe that coconut oil has qualities that can aid in many types of canine conditions.

THE SCIENCE BEHIND COCONUT OIL

Coconut oil comes from the meat of coconuts harvested from the coconut palm. Coconut oil consists of at least 90% saturated fats, most of which are Medium Chain Triglycerides (MCTs). Although we're used to thinking of fats as bad for us, MCTs are "good" fat and can provide several benefits, including being a source of fuel and energy. The components of MCTs include lauric acid, which is antibacterial, anti-fungal and anti-viral; capric acid and caprylic acid, which are known for their anti-fungal effects; and other acids that are polyunsaturated and monounsaturated fatty acids. According to Dogs Naturally Magazine, MCTs are quickly metabolized to provide energy. For a more in-depth explanation of the components of coconut oil, take a look at the presentation from the Pennington Biomedical Research Center at Louisiana State University.

WHAT ARE THE BENEFITS OF COCONUT OIL FOR DOGS?

- Lauric Acid - We've already mentioned the anti-inflammatory, anti-fungal and anti-bacterial properties of coconut oil. The lauric acid is also supposed to fight off viruses.
- Medium Chain Triglycerides - Some vets believe that the MCTs in coconut oil aid in digestion and can help heal digestive disorders, as well as improve brain energy and mental function in older dogs.
- Reduces coughing and helps eliminate hairballs.
- Topical Benefits - It's been known to help skin conditions like hot spots, bites, stings, or itchy, dry skin. Shampoos made with organic oils such as coconut oil can improve damaged skin and reduce allergens. Some pet owners have even made a DIY paw balm with coconut oil as one of the ingredients.
- Makes dogs' coats glossy and sleek.
- Eliminates doggy odor.
- Benefits metabolic function, weight loss, arthritis and bone health.

Continued: Coconut Oil

But, and this is a big "but," there is skepticism among scientists and veterinarians about all of these claims. According to Dr. Kathy Boehme at the Drake Center for Veterinary Care in California, while coconut oil has beneficial topical uses, it's not the cure-all some believe it is. Before you make the decision to use it for whatever ails your dog, talk to your vet and take into account that there have been no credible studies proving that coconut oil aids in thyroid dysfunction, weight loss, gum and teeth diseases, or cancer prevention.

Additionally, coconut oil doesn't provide the daily fat requirements your dog needs. The acids in MCTs don't have enough omega-6 and omega-3 acids, and what it does contain isn't processed very efficiently. As for claims that MCTs protect against bacteria, viruses, and fungi, while the lauric acid in MCTs does kill germs in lab tests, there is no clear evidence that it can be used in great enough quantities to offer dogs much protection.

However, given that so many pet owners are wary of the overuse of pharmaceutical antibiotics and anti-fungals, you and your vet may decide it's worth trying this natural and holistic approach.

HOW DO I USE COCONUT OILS FOR MY DOG?

If you plan to give coconut oil to your dog orally, you must start with small amounts and build up the dosage gradually. You should consult with your veterinarian regarding dosage. There can be side effects, such as greasy stools or diarrhea, which usually happens if the dose is too large.

To use coconut oil topically, apply it to the skin about once a week, and let it be absorbed for a few minutes. After five minutes or so, rinse your dog off. If he still feels excessively greasy or oily, you can follow up with a light shampoo and rinse. Alternatively, use a shampoo made with organic coconut oil.

Again, consult your veterinarian. If your dog has a tendency to gain weight, has pancreatitis, or he metabolizes fat inefficiently, you're better off using coconut oil topically or in very small doses.

HOW DO I CHOOSE A COCONUT OIL FOR MY DOG?

Choose unrefined coconut oil, also called virgin coconut oil. Better yet, look for cold-pressed oil, which uses a method to process the oil quickly after the coconuts are harvested to preserve nutrients. If you're feeding it to your dog, be aware that different oils have different smells and tastes. Some have a bold coconut taste, while others are bland. Some are buttery and smooth, while others are nutty. You may have to experiment a bit to find one your dog likes.

There's no doubt that we all want to take care of our dogs as safely, effectively, and naturally as possible. Coconut oil may be the next great thing, but it's wise to take into account the healthy skepticism that surrounds it. You and your veterinarian can make the decision whether coconut oil is a beneficial supplement to your dog's life.

Letters TO THE Editor

Dear PSVC Newsletter Editor,

I am writing, to you, seeking your help. Please encourage your readers write to Bob and Jane Doyle and command them to correct this situation immediately.

Recently, the Doyle family has been careless in serving my meals on time. I expect to be feed promptly at 7:00 a.m. each morning, not at 7:05 or as late as 7:15. The worst part of all is that they ask me to be quiet and not complain vocally when my meal is late. What is wrong with making as much noise as possible outside their bedroom door if they try to sleep in? I certainly must have the right to let them know when they are re-miss in their duties. I say off with their heads if they cannot get this right.

Two nights ago they had the nerve to make all of us wait to be fed until after they had their evening meal. Bob tried to do this several years ago, but I managed to talk Jane into feeding us first. Please remind them that our evening meal should be served no later than 5:00 p.m. To repeat, the Doyles should not complain when I and my royal subjects Dyson and Biffle let them know when they are slacking. Biffle's groans, Dyson's pitiful whines, and my requests (I certainly do not sound like a donkey braying) should demand respect and immediate action.

I respectfully demand swift action on your part.

← CH Pursuit of the Triple Crown for Kelby Creek (Rosie or Rosie2) had a great showing in Enumclaw. We are still pinching ourselves. On Thursday at the Rainier Sporting Dog Association show she earned Winner's Bitch for 4 points. On Friday at the Puget Sound Vizsla Club Specialty she was awarded Winner's Bitch for 4 points. On Saturday at the Olympic Kennel Club show she was awarded Best of Winners for 4 points. With these 3 consecutive wins and another major win, Rosie has her Championship title. On to concentrating on her hunt training with Chuck. Rosie is owned by Gail Fleming and Amie Durbin.

CH Pursuit of My Heart's Desire JH BN RN AX AXJ OF (Desi) earned one leg toward her Rally Advanced title and her final leg for her Agility Excellent title when we were in Enumclaw. In Puyallup Desi earned her first leg toward her Novice Preferred Obedience title. Desi and owner, Gail Fleming, are enjoying their agility journey together.

→I'm proud to announce that "Thea" is now Ch Kelby Creek's Sweet Thing, finishing her Championship at the Nisqually Kennel Club Show. The very next weekend amid extremely tough competition, Thea went on to win Best Opposite at the Olympia Kennel Club show for a 5 point Gch major. Over the moon thrilled about this win and very happy I escorted her around the ring for this one. Thea is co-owned and co-handled by myself and Mary Gaudio.

Dawson and I went after the new AKC trick titles and he managed to earn FOUR ...count 'em FOUR titles in a single day. We tested for the Canine Good Citizen first as it counted for 5 tricks. This was the most "iffy" title as Dawson is more of a trickster than a good citizen, but we pulled it off. Next we went for Trick Novice, followed by Trick Intermediate and with no tricks to spare squeaked by a Trick Advanced. That was 25 "tricks" in all, an assortment of tricks, agility and obedience. Exhausting, but so worth it.

"Dawson" is now Gch Ch Jaybren's Trouble in Mind RN CGC TKA

Am/Can Ch Rhapsody Dezertyfyre Write UR Stori, has been taking it easy this summer with only a few outings for specialty weekends.

"Stori" earned a nice grand champion 5 point major going Best opposite on Friday at Mt Bachelor KC/Tevco weekend the only day she was entered with Sheila at the end of the lead for a change. Stori made the cut at RSDA, earned an Award of Merit at PSVC specialty and made her obedience debut with a splash earning a leg towards her Beginning Novice title.

She didn't however make much of a splash at her first Dock dive, her face pretty much sums up what she thinks of that! Stori was only entered one day of the supported entry at OKC, taking Best of Breed with Kristina handling, onto a Owner Handler Group 3 and finally Sporting Group 4 with breeder Michelle Porfido! Stori cracked the top 20 standings earning an number 11 spot on the all breed standings for the month of August!
